These materials support the services specifically required for this acquisition; thereby the proposed source has the sole unique technical and other resources required for this acquisition;
- ii. The Government currently uses the proposed contractor's program for individual development for qualified candidates of the Office of Personnel Management's Executive Core Qualifications. This brand name product supports the Government's essential need for executive development requirements and supports succession planning efforts.
- iii. The proposed contractor provides individual leadership assessments, one-on-one coaching, and online collaboration tools, as well as government networking and resources. Participants work collaboratively on projects designed to tackle critical issues agencies face, the EIG program enables participants to stay in their jobs and to reflect on lessons between sessions, and EIG participants come out of the program with mentors as well as a network of peers and colleagues from across government. These networks help alumni further their own work and also strengthen the ability of different agencies to work together.
